

Gold and glitter apounaea m pro lotional advertisements, directed to both principals and speculators. Transportation and the proximity of industry were the most desired prerequisites governing the location of businesses during that period of time. Brinton Avenue's nearness to the foundry and railroad, and being situated on the railway route made it a prime business location. Cavitt Avenue, of course, would be secondary, dependent on the needs for additional business outlets.

Reports record the sale as sensational and by nightfall all of the lots were sold. Little time was lost in the mad rush to capitalize on the oppor on Cavitt Avenue.

In 1903 a surprising turn of events altered the course of future building for businesses. Trafford Inn, the mainstay of activity, was built in 1903 facing Cavitt Avenue and from that time on Cavitt Avenue became the main street of the growing community of Trafford.

The need of convenience to residents promoted new businesses, particularly grocery, at various locations throughout the borough. Over 200 places of business have been recorded within the limits of the borough aside from the numerous services operated

Several years and countless sources have produced a surprising array of names. An honest attempt has been made for accuracy and completeness but it is a foregone conclusion that this directory will contain a certain amount of errors and omissions for which we humbly apologize. Numerous businesses have been omitted because of lack of information concerning location, name, or certainty of existence. Our only regret is presenting this listing before the many other sources of information could be exhausted.

Two brickyards were attempted but only that of E. Sweeney materialized. Started in 1903 by E. Sweeney and sold to Henry Wynn and A. Q. Starr in 1905. It was operated by Issac Williams and son as the Wynn & Starr Brick Co. until 1924. At that time it became the Wynn Brick Co. remaining as such until 1932. In 1933 Houston and Starr interests operated it until 1946. It then became the Trafford Brick Co. operated by Donald Slusser. In the 1950's Catranel, contractors, operated it under the name Monroeville Brick Yard. The Darlington Brick Co. of Beaver County took over the operation and continued until it burned out in the 1960's. Although no longer in use, the clay banks are still a part of the Houston Starr interests.
